Jennifer is in associate within Miller Thomson's Litigation Group. Her practice focuses primarily on commercial litigation. An effective researcher and clear communicator, Jennifer frequently drafts legal procedures and opinions.

While pursuing her studies, Jennifer refined her legal knowledge during an internship with the Office of the Prime Minister of Canada. There, she interned for the Prime Minister's Chief of Staff and for the Office's Human Resources Team. She focused on a variety of initiatives, including diversity and inclusion policies, while also conducting legislative research.

Jennifer holds a Bachelor of Laws (LL.B.) and a Juris Doctor (J.D.) from the Université de Montréal. Prior to her legal studies, she earned a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and Anthropology at McGill University and graduated with the designation of Distinction.
